

N2 (UK) Ltd

Latest N2 (UK) Ltd Corona Virus update. 26-03-20

The BVA and RCVS have confirmed with the UK government that veterinary surgeries have been listed as an exception to mandatory closures.

To help support continuation of your UK and International services N2 remains operational.

Our forward planning and shift patterns have ensured the safety and social distancing requirements of all our staff.

Our increased stocks have been in place for many weeks in anticipation of things escalating as they are currently, so even if you are just providing emergency care, we will be carrying the implants you need to perform your procedures.

Our own UK manufacturing facility also remains open as it is exempt from closure as a medical manufacturer to the human market.

Once again, we are running shift patterns to keep staff safe at all times.

The only change in our service is as follows:

1. For guaranteed same day shipping, orders need to be placed by 12pm (noon) this is subject to Royal Mail changes in service.
2. Minimum order for free delivery has been temporarily increased to £125 + VAT. This is purely to encourage a little forward planning on your behalf to help us provide our staff the opportunity to social distance by reducing the number of visits required at the post office. I am sure many of you have seen the queues outside.

Kind regards, or best wishes as a phrase seems a little obsolete currently so we will adopt the latest one.

From all at N2

STAY SAFE
